Dwight Phillip Crow was born on Lookout Mountain on February 4, 1952 and passed away December 23, 2017. The son of Jack and Velma Dollar Crow, he became a prolific Master Mason and was an honorable U.S. Army veteran of the Panama conflict. Phillip's outstanding commercial and custom masonry can be seen all over Ft. Payne and throughout the region. He built many exceptional projects for his uncles; Pete Crow and John Paul Crow, Sr., founder of Builder's Supply and his cousin, contractor John Crow. His father Jack, and his brothers Pete, Paul, Bernard, J.O. Jr. and sister Louise Van Allen were the children of James Oscar and Cora Lowery Crow. J.O. Crow Sr. initiated the road around his farm overlooking Little River Canyon so the public could enjoy the beauty. Jack and Velma helped J.O. Sr. and lived on the farm in Phillip and Giselle's childhood.

A graduate of Ft. Payne High School, he was appreciated for his good humor and sportsmanship. He remained an avid sports fan and rarely missed a game. Phillip was preceded by his loving wife Elizabeth (Libby) McKinney Crow with whom he shared many happy years. All who knew him loved him for his red hair and bright blue eyes, his good-hearted kindness and caring for everyone. He will be missed.
