“ Mrs Green was hands down my favorite teacher at Ft Payne HS. Thanks to her dedication, I learned enough Algebra, Trig, Solid Geometry, and Calculus to survive 5 years of engineering school at Auburn, and graduate in 1967 with my degree in Aerospace Engineering. I am thankful for the day I went by her house somewhere around 2010 and thanked her profusely for her patience and persistence in giving me a first rate math education that served me for 30 years as an aerospace engineer for the US Army in helicopter research. May she rest in peace, for I owe her a debt that I can never repay.

“ I count Mrs. Green as one of the two best teachers I had at Ft Payne High School. I am convinced that were it not for her teaching skills that gave me a solid grounding in algebra and trig, I would not have survived my first year at USNA. Without a teaching assistant (whom teachers today seem to insist upon as a necessity), she tirelessly taught each of her 6 classes/day of 30+ students/class with uncompromising drive and dedication. Plus she found time to be one of our senior class "sponsors" as well as the advisor to the yearbook and paper staff. She may not have been the most popular teacher in high school, but I can't think of an unkind word to say about her. She was a real jewel and like so many regrets I have as I look back on my life, I so truly wish I had expressed my appreciation to her when she was alive. May God shed His grace upon her for all eternity.
